

WORLD VIEW OFFERS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR SPRING 2019 SEMINARS

THE JAMES L. PEACOCK SCHOLARSHIP

World View is committed to ensuring accessibility to our programs for all North Carolina K-12 and community college educators. We are pleased to provide an annual scholarship for a select educator to attend a World View March seminar of their choice in honor of former World View Advisory Board Chair Dr. James L. Peacock. In 2019, the following spring seminars will be offered:

March 19-20: Latin America and North Carolina Seminar

March 20-21: Global Migration Seminar

James L. Peacock is a Kenan Distinguished Professor of Anthropology Emeritus at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He received a B.A. from Duke University and a Ph.D. from Harvard University. He is a fellow of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and has received various grants and awards including the Thomas Jefferson award at UNC, the Franz Boas award of the American Anthropological Association, the Citizen of the World by the International Affairs Council, the Massey Award for Service and the Johnson Award for Excellence in Teaching. He has served as chair of the UNC faculty, chair of the Department of Anthropology and director of the UNC Center for International Studies. Dr. Peacock was instrumental in the founding of World View and helped World View fulfill our mission for over 15 years. The scholarship is offered in appreciation for his commitment to global education.

Criteria:

The 2019 James L. Peacock Scholarship will be presented to one (1) K-12 or community college educator who has attended a World View professional development program during the 2017-18 or 2018-19 academic year and has demonstrated a commitment to bringing the world to North Carolina students. Past program participation can include attendance at a symposia, seminar, workshop, Global is Local program, global education summit, leadership program or study visit abroad.

Application Process:

We want to hear about your global education successes and commitment to global education! Please share your story and submit a short essay (no more than 500 words) describing how your participation in a World View program has impacted your instruction or classroom, including a short description of an activity you implemented with your students after attending a World View program. Please submit your final essay and no more than three photographs and/or a two minute or less video to Julie Kinnaird, Associate Director of K-12 at kinnaird@unc.edu.

Scholarship is valued at $175 (or $200 for non-Partners) and does not include funding for travel to/from Chapel Hill to attend the seminar. Please note that all images, video and text submitted will become the property of World View and must have the necessary permissions, particularly if images of minors are included, to be posted to the World View website.

Deadline for submission is February 1, 2019. Recipient will be notified by February 15, 2019.

SPRING SEMINAR 2019 SCHOLARSHIPS

In Spring 2019 World View will offer two (2) additional scholarships to North Carolina K-12 or community college educators to attend a World View March 2019 seminar of their choice. In 2019, the following spring seminars will be offered:

March 19-20: Latin America and North Carolina Seminar

March 20-21: Global Migration Seminar

Criteria:

All current North Carolina K-12 and community college educators are invited to apply.

Application Process:

Please submit a short essay (no more than 500 words) answering the following:

How will your participation in a World View 2019 spring seminar help you advance global learning in your classroom, school or college?

Please submit your final essay to Julie Kinnaird, Associate Director of K-12 at kinnaird@unc.edu. All text submitted will become the property of World View and may be posted to the World View website. Each scholarship is valued at $175 (or $200 for non-Partners) and does not include funding for travel to/from Chapel Hill to attend the seminar.

Deadline for submission is February 1, 2019. Recipients will be notified by February 15, 2019.
