

Connecting the Past and the Present: Celebrating North Carolina's American Indian Heritage

Brainstorming Worksheet (Unit 2, Lesson 6)

1) Individually:

- Write any ideas that come to mind
- Do not judge or discuss the ideas
- Come up with as many ideas as possible

2) Ask yourself these questions:

- What do I want to know?
- What do most people know already?
- How can we teach this?
- How can we divide the work?

3) Group Share:

- Each group member should share their ideas, focusing first on the ones that have the most development
- Put the top three ideas in one stack, others go in a separate stack. Evaluate the pros and cons of each of the top three based on the following criteria:

Common interest, ease of teaching, possibility of interactivity, knowledge

- Focus on ways to take each idea into a workable, interactive project, choosing the most practical solution everyone can agree upon.
